

Would your business like to discover how to measure and monitor resource and material use and maximise profit?

Then why not attend a free Envirowise Measurement event.

Ensure your company minimises waste and maximises profit in 2007 by securing your place now at an event near you. Register online at www.rsvp-online.com?envirowise2007

Envirowise, funded by the Scottish Executive, has developed a new Measurement and Benchmarking service to help businesses measure and monitor their resources and materials efficiently and benchmark their environmental performance against other businesses.

12 free lunch events are being held throughout Scotland. These events will give you an insight into Envirowise and provide you with knowledge on how your business can:

- Measure and monitor your efficiency by establishing Key Environmental Performance Indicators (KEPIs)
- Identify real cost savings through resource efficiency

- Improve process performance and environmental compliance
- Gain a foothold in reducing your environmental impact
- Benchmark your performance internally and against similar companies across your sector

The events are suitable for all members of staff with a responsibility for measuring and monitoring resource use, for example raw materials, energy, water and packaging.

Places are limited, so please don't miss your chance to register for a free event. Please pass this invitation on to any colleagues that you think may also be interested in attending.
